

Laura Regine, working at the real estate agency Ellis and Co. in Wembley Park:

"The main task on my first day was filing. This is basically what I did all day. However, I was fine with that as this meant not having to take phone calls which kind of scares me. The two employees I've met so far are both very nice and I look forward to meeting the others soon.

On my third day at work I was able to visit 3 houses and they all looked very cool! So far, I haven't gotten tired of London. I love this city and even if work is difficult sometimes, I don't want to leave."
